DCT Abu Dhabi supporting preservation of earthen heritage

Department of culture and tourism's programmes aim to fulfil its mandate to promote the emirate's heritage, culture

ABU DHABI/AD MEDIA OFFICE

The department of culture and tourism – Abu Dhabi (DCT Abu Dhabi) has spearheaded several successful programmes and partnerships in 2023, which aim to fulfil its mandate to promote, protect and progress the emirate's heritage and culture.

Among the programmes, specifically within earthen heritage, DCT Abu Dhabi partnered with So-Hath/100 Hands Foundation as part of a training programme for its artisans. Titled Relearning with Earth, the programme helped 42 artisans and craftsmen refine their skills in restoring and preserving Abu Dhabi's earthen heritage sites.

The training programme supports DCT Abu Dhabi's goals to enhance the skills and knowledge of artisans working in the field of conservation of earthen heritage in the region. The programme, which included lectures and workshops, also led to the creation of three conservation manuals in four languages — Arabic, English, Urdu and Hindi — and featured the principles, techniques and traditions of earthen construction.

Jaber Al Merri, DCT Abu Dhabi's Director of the Historic Environment Department, said: "Preserving historic buildings and training skilled artisans are crucial to

DCL implements AI technology to detect 'Legionella' bacteria

The method, which is the first in the region, is both accurate and sustainable in identifying live colonies of the bacteria

DUBAI / WAM

Dubai Central Laboratory (DCL), affiliated with Dubai Municipality has implemented a new artificial intelligence (AI) technology which is the first in the region to seamlessly detect Legionella pulmonary bacteria, a form of bacteria that causes several acute respiratory infections.

The method is both accurate and sustainable in identifying live colonies of this type of bacteria. It also shows the results of the examination in specific concentrations from the specimen, accurately quantifying the bacterial counts to 99 percent of the time. This also leads to a faster completion rate of the work due to fewer requirements for laboratory supplies.

Hind Mahmoud Ahmed, Director of the Dubai Central Laboratory Department, underscored Dubai Municipality's commitment towards developing digital infrastructure for its laboratories and equipping them with cutting-edge systems that improve the overall effectiveness of the emirate's health and safety system.

The latest move furthers the municipality's objective of developing and implementing globally recognised standards for laboratory and calibration certificates, as well as safeguarding public health and wellness.

Hind commented, "This revolutionary method of detecting the Legionella pulmonary bacteria is among the latest to be accredited globally by the European Water Testing Network. It also has a certificate of recognition from AOAC International. The technology is very accurate and quick to produce results, typically needing 48 hours as opposed to the 14 days that traditional methods

It also entails the use of research and development studies for diverse microbiological examinations, assuring that laboratories have the capacity to respond promptly to various kinds of circumstances.

Focusing on the health and safety of consumers, the new technology supports the framework of microbiological exams implemented to make sure that there is no corrupt microbial growth or disease transmitted across different commodities and products.

Dubai Central Laboratory system has several specialised laboratories, which include Chemical Analysis Laboratory, Microbiological Analysis, Infrastructure and Construction Materials Laboratories, Metrology, and Electromechanical Devices.

Food, health, industry, the environment, and several governmental and academic entities and institutions benefit from the laboratory's tests, which are based on an integrated technological system comprising nearly 5,000 technology systems and devices.

The laboratory also provides technical consultations, specialised training, and inspection and calibration services to ensure residents have access to high quality living conditions.

SCC discusses policy of Sharjah Fish Resources Authority

The SFRA, through its roles, aims to achieve four goals: preserving and developing fish resources in the Emirate; achieving and developing food security; reviving and advancing the fishing profession; and supporting cooperative shops by selling fishing materials at competitive prices -WAM

SHARJAH / WAM

The Sharjah Consultative Council (SCC) discussed the policy of the Sharjah Fish Resources Authority (SFRA) during its ninth session of the eleventh legislative term under its Chairman Dr Abdullah Belhaif Al Nuaimi.

Ali Ahmed Abu Ghazn, Chairman of the SFRA, spoke about the authority's objectives contained in the provisions of Decree Law No 3 of 2022 regarding the organisation of the Sharjah Fish Resources Authority, issued on September 1, 2022.

Then, he presented the authority's policies and services, pointing to achieve four goals: preserving and developing fish resources in the Emirate; achieving and developing food security; reviving and advancing the fishing profession; and supporting cooperative shops by selling fishing materials at competitive prices.

Abu Ghazin answered questions and inquiries raised by the house members about plans, policies, missions, activities and objectives of the SFRA.

He explained that the authority is working to implement the visions and directives of HH Sheikh Dr Sultan bin Muhammed Al Qasimi, Supreme Council Member and Ruler of Sharjah, to support fishermen and create the ideal environment for practicing the fishing profession, upgrading and developing it in a way that contributes to achieving food security and supporting workers in this sector.

The R&D centre has a number of highly skilled emirati professionals, including 29 PhD and master's degree holders. The emiratisation rate at the centre has reached 74 percent, while the percentage of emirati female employees has reached 40 percent, some of whom hold advanced academic qualifications in the scientific and engineering fields.

Saeed Mohammed Al Tayer, MD & CEO of Dewa, said, "We are guided by the vision of His Highness Sheikh Mohammed bin Rashid Al Maktoum, Vice President and Prime Minister of the UAE and Ruler of Dubai, to foster advanced, and innovative scientific research aimed at realising future plans and ambitions. Etihad Airways, the national airline of the United Arab Emirates and JetBlue, New York's Hometown Airline, announced the addition of loyalty benefits starting from May 8, as part of its long-standing codeshare partnership. The agreement be-drive or shop.

The customer loyalty offerings build on both airlines' near decade of partnership, which delivers access between New York and Boston to Etihad's global network of more than 70 destinations and over 40 destinations across JetBlue's network within the Americas.

tween the two airlines was celebrated at Dubai's Arabian Travel Market.

As part of this partnership, members of JetBlue's TrueBlue loyalty programme and members of Etihad Guest, the loyalty programme of Etihad Airways, will now be able to earn and redeem Miles in the programme of their choice when flying across the network of either airline.

This partnership complements the respective programmes' portfolio of redemption options with Etihad Guest miles redeemable against a wide range of experiences As part of this partnership, members of JetBlue's TrueBlue loyalty programme and members of Etihad Guest, the loyalty programme of Etihad Airways, will now be able to earn and redeem Miles in the programme of their choice when flying across the network of either airline —WAM from flights and worldwide hotel stays to converting miles into a reward card for shopping. In addition, last year JetBlue launched its new TrueBlue loyalty program, offering members more value with the introduction of tiles to track status, Perks You Pick, expanded Mosaic levels for the airline's most loyal customers and more ways to earn perks and status than ever before. Understanding that no two travellers are alike, True-Blue gives customers the ability to choose the rewards that are most valuable to them and earn points whether they fly, buy, Mark Potter, Managing Director Etihad Guest, said: "JetBlue has been an important partner for Etihad for almost a decade and we're thrilled to be extending this partnership to our loyalty programmes, benefitting both of our airlines' valued members. We look forward to welcoming and rewarding TrueBlue members."

"This also further bolsters Etihad's commitment to the US market, following the recent launch of our direct service connecting Abu Dhabi and Boston, as well as introducing our popular A380 onto the New York route, expanding capacity." exciting introduction to the emirate for curious visitors. This innovative initiative provides a snapshot of the diverse experiences available here — from entertainment and culture to leisure and beyond — inspiring travellers to return and immerse themselves in the complete Abu Dhabi experience."

Antonoaldo Neves, Chief Executive Officer, Etihad, said: "We plan to bring more than 100,000 visitors to Abu Dhabi through the Stopover programme over the next year, and we're confident that once they have a taste of what the capital has to offer, they will return for more. We are thrilled to be working hand in hand with the Department of Culture and Tourism – Abu Dhabi to showcase what the emirate has to offer to the world."

Post-Impressionism: Beyond Appearances (October 16 – February 9, 2025)

In partnership with Musée d'Orsay, Louvre Abu Dhabi's Post-Impressionism: Beyond Appearances exhibition will build upon the success of its major exhibition Impressionism: Pathways to Modernity. This exhibition will delve into the fascinating period known as Post-Impressionism, focusing specifically on the years between 1886 and 1905.

These two decades were a time of immense artistic innovation and experimentation, marking the transition from Impressionism to the explosive emergence of the "fauves" at the Salon d'Automne. The exhibition will be curated by Jean-Rémi Touzet, conservator for paintings at the Musée d'Orsay, and Jérôme Farigoule, Chief Curator at Louvre Abu Dhabi, with the support of Aisha Alahmadi, Curatorial Assistant at Louvre Abu Dhabi.
