UAE marks International Day of Happiness

ABU DHABI / WAM

The UAE celebrates "International Day of Happiness" on March 20 each year, reaffirming its commitment to enhancing the well-being and quality of life of all residents and citizens.

As one of the first countries to integrate happiness as a key metric in government policies, the UAE considers it a fundamental indicator of progress and success.

The country consistently ranks among the top nations in the annual World Happiness Report published by the Sustainable Development Solutions Network under the UN.

The report evaluates nations based on indicators such as income, economic production, social support, life expectancy, freedom, absence of corruption, and generosity.

This year's celebration is particularly significant as it aligns with the "Year of Community," a national initiative aimed at fostering happiness, stability, and well-being for all society members, fostering cooperation and solidarity among them.

The UAE consistently ranks among the top nations in the annual World Happiness Report published by the Sustainable Development Solutions Network under the United Nations

Over the years, the UAE has launched several government initiatives and events to enhance community happiness. In 2016, the country introduced the role of Minister of State for Happiness.

Following a cabinet reshuffle in October 2017, the role was expanded to include the "wellbeing" portfolio, while in July 2020, the portfolio for Quality of Life and Happiness was transferred to the Ministry of Community Development.

As part of the Shariah Islamic Bank (SIB)-Environment and Protected Areas Authority (EPAA) partnership, the two entities have launched the 'Tree Planting' initiative

SHARJAH / WAM

Sharjah Islamic Bank (SIB) has announced a strategic partnership with the Environment and Protected Areas Authority (EPAA) in Sharjah. This initiative aligns with the SIB's commitment to sustainable development goals and reinforces its leadership role in preserving the environment and natural resources. As part of this partnership, the two entities have launched the "Tree Planting" initiative, supporting national efforts to enhance environmental sustainability and protect plant diversity. The initiative commenced with planting 50 native trees at Al Montather Reserve on Mleiha Road, attended by officials from SIB and EPAA, as well as volunteers and environmental enthusiasts.

With a goal of planting 5,000 trees by the end of the year, this initiative is designed as a long-term commitment to sustainable environmental practices. It introduces an innovative incentive mechanism that promotes community participation—one tree will be planted for every new bank card issued. This approach encourages individuals and institutions to actively contribute to afforestation projects while fostering a sense of environmental responsibility.

Mohamed Abdalla, CEO of SIB, emphasised that this partnership with EPAA is a pivotal step toward increasing environmental awareness and embedding sustainability into corporate culture.
