GUANGZHOU, CHINA/WAM

The Ministry of Economy and Tourism took part in the 'Women's Economy Dialogue' in Guangzhou, People's Republic of China.

This comes as part of the UAE's celebrations of Emirati Women's Day 2025, held under the theme 'Hand in Hand, We Celebrate 50 Years,'

The event was aimed at strengthening the global presence of Emirati women, highlighting their remarkable achievements, and fostering international partnerships between successful women leaders in the economic sector in both the UAE and China. These efforts align with the UAE wise leadership's vision to support and empower women and to reinforce their role in shaping the future.

The UAE delegation participating in the event, organised by the Consulate General of the UAE in Guangzhou, was led by Badreya Al Maidoor, Assistant Undersecretary for the Support Services Sector at the Ministry of Economy and Tourism, and included Mariam Alshamsi, Consul General of the UAE in Guangzhou; Emirati entrepreneur Maryam Al Mansoori, General Manager of Rebound; as well as representatives from Sky River and Esaal.

Al Maidoor affirmed that the empowerment of women remains one of the UAE's strategic priorities, in line with the wise leadership's vision to sup-

And with enhanced support through training, workshops, and toolkits, Abu Dhabi Government entities are now more empowered to lead their own transformation journeys.

The second edition reflects a more developed and scalable customer experience (CX) ecosystem that is more decentralised and focused on building skills and sharing responsibility across government entities. It builds on the foundation set by the first edition, strengthened by the Abu Dhabi Effortless Customer Experience manuals and design tools introduced since the inaugural awards.

His Excellency Ahmed Al Kuttab, Chairman of the Department of Government Enablement - Abu Dhabi, said: "The second edition of the Abu Dhabi Effortless Customer Experience Awards builds on our commitment to recognising and empowering government entities that deliver innovative, seamless services enhancing the quality of life for people and businesses. The success of the first edition is a clear testament to Abu Dhabi's leadership in reimagining government experiences at a global level."

His Excellency Saeed Al Mulla, Executive Director of Customer Experience at DGE, said: "These awards underscore Abu Dhabi's ambition to lead in customer experience by embedding a culture of innovation and service excellence across the government. By celebrating collaborative and forward-thinking efforts, we are promoting integrated, efficient, and human-centric services that reflect the needs and aspirations of our diverse community."

The initiative is a clear result of the broader strategy of the Abu Dhabi Program for Effortless Customer Experience, which has already made a difference for members of the Abu Dhabi community. By streamlining thousands of government procedures, the programme has cut service centre visits by around 400,000 and reduced customer requests by 64 per cent, which means faster services, less paperwork, and fewer queues that contribute to driving customer satisfaction to world-class levels. The strategy continues to redefine public services through cutting-edge technologies and a commitment to proactive, efficient and effortless service design. It also aims to strengthen frontline government talent, supporting Abu Dhabi as a global leader in delivering future-ready, customer-centric public services.

GCAA issues new civil aviation regulation on Aerodrome Crisis Management

ABU DHABI / WAM

The UAE General Civil Aviation Authority (GCAA) has officially published its Civil Aviation Regulation (CAR) on Aerodrome Crisis Management (ACM) a bespoke regulation designed to transform how aerodromes prepare for, respond to, and recover from crises, emergencies, and operational disruptions.

Developed through close collaboration with the UAE's airports and international best practices, the regulation establishes a holistic, integrated, and proactive framework for aerodrome crisis management.

crisis management.

This regulation marks a strategic shift away from traditional reactive and compartmentalised models, toward a coordinated, performance-driven approach that enhances safety, business continuity, and operational excellence across the aviation sector.

Saif Mohammed Al Suwaidi, Director-General of the GCAA, said, "This regulation reflects the UAE's commitment to proactive aviation leadership. Our aerodromes will not only be better prepared for crises but will also emerge from them stronger and more unified."

The new regulation sets a global benchmark for managing complex, evolving challenges such as pandemics and natural disasters. It mandates comprehensive crisis planning, interagency coordination, continuous training, and the integration of risk-based decision-making into daily operations.

Eng Aqeel Al Zarouni, Assistant Director-General for Aviation Safety Affairs, said the regulation was developed through extensive consultation with airport operators and aviation stakeholders; their insights were critical to shaping a regulation that is both practical and scalable."
