UAE marks 50 years of Armed Forces unification

ABU DHABI / WAM

The United Arab Emirates will celebrate on Wednesday the 50th anniversary of the unification of its Armed Forces, reflecting on five decades of achievements and heroism in defending sovereignty and safeguarding national gains.

The occasion comes this year as the UAE Armed Forces have showcased their high efficiency and readiness in countering the recent Iranian aggression and thwarting all attempts to undermine the country's security and stability, recording an unprecedented achievement in modern military history in successfully intercepting ballistic missiles and drones targeting the UAE.

The UAE Armed Forces continue to advance along a clear path based on constant readiness and multi-dimensional response capabilities. The military institution has adopted an integrated approach combining land, air, naval and cyber domains within a unified system.

The land forces constitute the backbone of the UAE's defence system, advancing a concept of smart manoeuvre built on speed and accuracy of information.

- The air force represents a key pillar of the UAE's strategic deterrence through its multi-role aircraft capable of conducting long-range operations, reinforcing the country's capacity to safeguard its vital interests while providing precise support to land and naval forces
- The UAE's air superiority extends beyond aircraft to a fully integrated system comprising early warning, air defence and advanced command centres, supported by joint training with international partners to strengthen the capabilities of Emirati pilots
