Abdulla Salem AlNuaimi, Group CEO, ADX Group, said, "This partnership marks a defining step in connecting Abu Dhabi more directly with the global investment community. It comes at a pivotal moment when investors are seeking resilient, high-growth markets with strong fundamentals, a long-term vision and access to emerging sectors shaping the future economy. The collaboration between FINTECH.TV and ADX helps close that gap by delivering consistent, on-the-ground insight, trusted narratives, and transparent market intelligence directly from ADX and Abu Dhabi to a global audience. This is not only about positioning Abu Dhabi as the destination for global capital, but as an international hub for opportunity, dialogue, and financial leadership."

Vince Molinari, Founder and CEO of FINTECH.TV, added, "ADX is one of the fastest growing exchanges in the world and the companies listed here, across energy, AI, healthcare, and fintech, have a reach and relevance that goes well be-

Through the ADX studio, FINTECH.TV will deliver daily live coverage of ADX market activity, developments of ADX-listed companies, Abu Dhabi enterprises and the broader Abu Dhabi financial landscape, distributed across FINTECH

The partnership builds on the strategic relationship between ADX and NYSE following their 2023 agreement to explore dual listings, ETFs and cross-border investment products beyond this region. We have been coming to the UAE for years and watching this market grow into something truly remarkable. Having our studios at both the NYSE and ADX is exactly where a global financial media network should be."

Troy McGuire, Co-Founder and Head of Global Content and Operations at FINTECH.TV, commented, "The ADX studio is a cornerstone of what we are building with our 24/7 streaming channel. Every day we will be able to cover the ADX opening bell, sit down with the executives and investors driving this market, and shine a light on listings that have a truly global footprint."

UAE, Bahrain Central Bank Governors discuss enhancing financial, monetary cooperation

The meeting was attended by the Assistant Governors of the Central Bank of the UAE and a number of senior officials from both sides — WAM

ABU DHABI / WAM

Khaled Mohamed Balama, Governor of the Central Bank of the UAE (CBUAE), received Khalid Humaidan, Governor of the Central Bank of Bahrain (CBB), at the CBUAE headquarters in Abu Dhabi.

During the meeting, both sides discussed ways to further strengthen the strategic partnership and enhance cooperation frameworks in the financial and banking sectors.

The meeting also addressed several topics of mutual interest, including developing coordination mechanisms, exchanging expertise, supporting the efficiency and stability of banking systems and advancing innovation initiatives in financial services. These efforts aim to expand the prospects for economic, trade, and investment cooperation between the two countries, while supporting sustainable growth and shared development aspirations.

The Governor of the Central Bank of Bahrain and the accompanying delegation were also briefed during a tour of the CBUAE's sectors and departments on the initiatives, programmes and development projects related to financial infrastructure and digital transformation in the financial sector. The visit also included a review of the CBUAE's best practices in promoting financial stability and supporting innovation in financial services.

The meeting was attended by the Assistant Governors of the Central Bank of the UAE and a number of senior officials from both sides.

Khaled Mohamed Balama, Governor of the Central Bank of the UAE, said, "This meeting reflects the depth and strength of the longstanding relations between the leadership and people of the United Arab Emirates and the Kingdom of Bahrain, and their shared commitment to advancing bilateral relations and deepening strategic cooperation towards new horizons that contribute to supporting comprehensive development in both countries. It also represents an important step towards developing frameworks for financial and monetary coordination with our partners in the Kingdom of Bahrain, in a manner that supports stability and increases trade and investment."

ADIB integrates the UAE Wage Protection System

The digital-first solution improves accuracy and offers employers greater compliance, visibility, and control

ABU DHABI / WAM

Abu Dhabi Islamic Bank (ADIB) has introduced a new digital service allowing individual employers to register and pay employees' salaries directly through the ADIB Mobile Banking app and corporate employers via the ADIB Direct app.

ADIB is one of the first banks to offer this service, which is fully aligned with the approved regulatory framework of the UAE's Wage Protection System (WPS).

This service was developed in collaboration with Al Etihad

Payments (AEP) and the Ministry of Human Resources and Emiratisation (MoHRE) to ensure full compliance with all national regulatory requirements.

By integrating WPS, employers can now retrieve and verify employee data, validate salary information, and report paid and unpaid salary details with the required justifications.

The solution also introduces inside-country employee verification and strengthens transparency, auditability, and regulatory reporting.

The initiative reinforces ADIB's commitment to delivering Shari'ah-compliant, regulator-ready digital solutions across its personal, small- and medium-enterprises (SMEs), and corporate banking ecosystems — WAM

KHDA to resume quality assurance visits for Dubai private schools from 2026-27

For the period, quality assurance activities will focus on assessing the impact of schools' improvement efforts over the past two years and providing support to help schools improve

Schools selected for either type of visit will receive no more than 24 hours' notice, a measure KHDA said would help ensure inspections reflect the day-to-day reality of school life and provide a more accurate assessment of teaching, learning and student wellbeing —WAM

DUBAI / WAM

Dubai's Knowledge and Human Development Authority (KHDA) will resume quality assurance visits to private schools across the emirate from the 2026-27 academic year as part of efforts to improve educational standards, student outcomes and parental confidence in the school system.

The visits support Dubai's Education 33 (E33) Strategy, which aims to enhance education quality and place students at the centre of the learning process, while contributing to broader goals under the Dubai Plan 2033, Dubai Economic Agenda (D33) and Dubai Social Agenda.

The Education Quality Assurance and Compliance Agency, part of KHDA, said it would strengthen oversight of private education and further develop quality assurance tools to support continuous school improvement.

During the past two years, KHDA maintained oversight of educational quality through visits to newly established schools and institutions completing three years of operation, reviews of school self-evaluation reports, data analysis and assessments of student performance.
