Arcera, Innogen sign licensing pact for GLP-1 therapy in UAE, international markets

ABU DHABI / WAM

Abu Dhabi-based Arcera Life Sciences has signed an exclusive licensing and commercialisation agreement with China's Innogen Pharmaceuticals for Efsubaglutide Alfa, a GLP-1 receptor agonist therapy being developed to treat type 2 diabetes and obesity, in the UAE and selected international markets.

Under the agreement, Arcera will be responsible for regulatory procedures, obtaining the necessary approvals, market access and commercialisation of the therapy in selected countries across the Middle East, Africa, Eastern Europe and Latin America. Innogen, a Shanghai-based biopharmaceutical company specialising in metabolic diseases, will receive an upfront payment, milestone payments and tiered royalties based on net sales in the licensed territories.

The partnership forms part of Arcera's efforts to expand its cardiometabolic treatment portfolio, combining Innogen's expertise in developing innovative biological therapies with Arcera's regulatory and commercial capabilities in international markets.

Efsubaglutide Alfa is a biological therapy belonging to the glucagon-like peptide-1 (GLP-1) receptor agonist class. It comprises a fusion protein combining a human GLP-1 analogue with an immunoglobulin G Fc fragment.

According to clinical studies cited by the companies, the therapy has demonstrated a half-life of up to 280 hours, representing the time required for its concentration in the body to decrease by half.

> Under the pact, Arcera will be responsible for regulatory procedures, obtaining the approvals, market access and commercialisation of the therapy in selected nations across the Middle East, Africa, Eastern Europe and Latin America

Clinical results also showed a reduction in glycated haemoglobin (HbA1c) of approximately 2.2 percentage points after 24 weeks of treatment.

Studies involving Chinese adults with overweight or obesity recorded average weight reductions of 10.6 percent with once-weekly dosing and 9.7 percent with dosing once every two weeks, following an 18-week treatment period.

The studies also reported improvements in body composition, including an increase of up to 45.3 percent in the muscle-to-fat ratio, with weight loss predominantly attributed to reductions in body fat while relatively preserving muscle mass. Liver fat content declined by up to 51.8 percent among participants receiving once-weekly treatment.

Innogen has also completed a Phase II clinical trial in Australia evaluating the efficacy and safety of once-monthly dosing in adults with overweight or obesity, providing additional evidence to support the therapy's future international development and registration.

To mark the occasion, the UAE's national airline announced the launch of its first co-branded Etihad Guest Visa Signature credit cards, developed in partnership with Visa and First National Bank of Omaha (FNBO), enabling cardholders to earn miles through travel and everyday spending.

Antonoaldo Neves, CEO of Etihad Airways, said the airline's 20 years of operations in the United States represent a significant milestone, reflecting the lasting connections established between the UAE and the US and the opportunities created through direct air connectivity.

He emphasised that the United States remains an important market in Etihad's global growth strategy, highlighting the airline's continued investment in strengthening connections through Abu Dhabi.

Neves added that Etihad aims to expand its network further, attract more visitors to Abu Dhabi and create additional opportunities to connect the UAE, the United States and the wider world.

As part of its efforts to expand travel options, Etihad continues to strengthen its partnerships with American Airlines and JetBlue, providing passengers with access to additional destinations across the United States beyond its six direct gateways.

The partnership between the Etihad Guest and JetBlue TrueBlue loyalty programmes also enables members to earn and redeem miles, while a new partnership with Southwest Rapid Rewards will introduce reciprocal earning and redemption from spring 2027.

Etihad passengers travelling to the United States can also benefit from the US Customs and Border Protection Preclearance facility at Zayed International Airport, the only facility of its kind in the Middle East and Asia.

The exhibition highlights the significance of pearls, oud and ambergris in shaping the country's economic, social and cultural life and their enduring place in Emirati heritage and national identity.
